Jetk. is going Global after an Amazing Soft Launch in Greece; Indiegogo Campaign Features Fighter Jets Upcycled into Bottle Openers

It's well-known the little things a person carries often help to set them apart from the crowd. Building off this foundation the innovative team at Jetk. recently announced the launch of a crowdfunding campaign featuring upcycled fighter jet engine blades – transformed into very cool high quality key chains, bottle openers and desktop eye candy.

Fighter jets hold a certain fascination for many people that's easy to understand – fast, powerful, built to incredibly high standards and packed with all kinds of advanced systems, they are at the very cutting edge of technology. Fans of combat aviation have a good reason to smile thanks to the team of forward thinking Greek students behind the project. Jetk. recently announced a breakthrough launch of a crowdfunding campaign on Indiegogo. They are offering limited edition life hacking cool key chains, versatile bottle openers and some exceptional eye candy all made from professionally laser engraved and CNC milled, upcycled, fighter jet engine blades. To add to the excitement each piece of stylish accessory is engraved with a beautiful design explaining the true nature and origin of the blade that's sure to inspire and entertain.

“As combat aviation fans ourselves, we can't help but be excited,” commented one of the Jetk. co-founders. “Upcycling is the latest trend in environmental protection. However, this kind of upcycling is something even more important: we are upcycling Air Force history here!”

According to Jetk., the key rings, bottle openers and desktop eye candy are all made of the same lightweight, but near indestructible, titanium super-alloy fighter jet engine blades that allow combat aircraft jet engines to perform on such a high level. The combination of extraordinary material and real stories combines for an amazing conversation starter – a very compelling quality of the new line that's winning Jetk. a huge amount of interest.

A Beta Tester of the Jetk. bottle opener remarked in his five-star review, “I sometimes even put the crown cork back on the bottle to open it again!”

Jetk. has set a flexible goal of $2000 for their Indiegogo and despite the fact that they have been already overfunded, Jetk. has the stock and the processes to satisfy a much bigger demand. The campaign ends in mid-August, 2017.
